

HBC Mobile Data & Communication Solutions

In a world where communication on the move is becoming pervasive and technologies are advancing, there is a huge opportunity for businesses to market and profit from mobility. Hampshire Business Computers in partnership with Hugh Symons Telecom are ideally positioned to provide a complete range of end to end mobile data & communication solutions. If required this process could incorporate the handsets, carrier, tariffs and the network data expertise to link and synchronize the data flow between mobile users and centrally stored information.

Wide Ranging Solutions

Several choices are available depending on the business requirement and the size of the user base. These include the following :-

- Goodlink generic push technology software application
- Blackberry proprietary push technology software application
- BlueRoam secure connection Virtual Private Network link
- Microsoft Exchange Server 2003 Push technology within Mobile Information Server
- 3G, GPRS & GSM technologies which can be incorporated into the above solutions

Enterprise Servers

Some of the aforementioned products require a dedicated separate file server which in the case of the Goodlink or Blackberry application, sits along side the customer's mail server and provides the synchronisation and "Push Technology" link to send the mail directly to the recipients compatible hand held device or Smart phone. Whenever possible a new, suitably specified file server is recommended to host the Goodlink or Blackberry Enterprise software.

Carriers & Tariffs

Where required the handsets can be affiliated with particular carriers or mobile phone networks to ensure the best geographic coverage for the mobile user base. Network experts from Hugh Symons Telecom will be on hand to advise HBC's customer base on the most cost effective package that will accurately meet their business needs.

Installation services

Hampshire Business Computers have many years experience in creating links between mobile users and a centralised domain, HBC's product portfolio is now further enhanced by the addition of mobile data solutions for new and existing customers. Hampshire Business Computers and Hugh Symons Telecom can provide Mobile Data Solutions that will help you to reduce costs, increase efficiency and productivity, improve communications in remote environments and adhere to health and safety guidelines to protect your staff.
